STG International Expands Executive Team with New Hire

--Laurie Hughes is Named Vice President of Healthcare Services--

Alexandria, VA – February 15, 2008 - STG International, a leading provider of mission-critical and staffing services, is proud to announce Laurie Hughes as the newly appointed Vice President of Healthcare Services. With over 20 years of experience in healthcare business management, operations, and consulting, Ms. Hughes is directly responsible for the overall performance and operation of STG International's Healthcare Services Division. In this capacity, she works with the team of directors to provide customer-focused staffing solutions that meet clients' needs.

"Ms. Hughes is an enormous asset to the STG International team," says Michelle Lee, CEO of STG International. "Her extensive knowledge and commercial business experience in the healthcare industry adds significant value to the company's management strength and future growth plans. Her passion and abilities fit into our results-oriented environment. We are grateful and proud to have her as an executive at STG International."

"In this role, I look forward to meeting new global challenges as STG International continues to grow in the government and private sectors," says Hughes. "STG International provides tremendous benefits to the military and federal agencies it supports. There is clearly a healthcare staffing crisis in our country and it is exciting to be a part of a solutions-oriented team and contribute to the exceptional healthcare staffing services that STG International provides to clients."

Prior to joining STG International, Ms. Hughes held senior leadership positions in both large and small corporations, including Executive Director for United BioSource Corporation, Group Vice President at PAREXEL and Senior Vice President for McKesson. Ms. Hughes brings global strategic and implementation experience in consulting, research and large program design and operations management to support the needs of patients and providers in the public and private sectors. She holds an M.B.A. from the George Washington University School of Business.
