Michelle S. Lee Honored by National Non-profit, Asian Women in Business
CEO receives 2010 Entrepreneurial Leadership Award

ALEXANDRIA, VA, October 18, 2010 — STG International, Inc. (STGi) announced today that Michelle S. Lee, President and CEO, is being honored with the Entrepreneurial Leadership Award from Asian Women in Business, the only non-profit organization in the country whose mission is to provide a platform through which women entrepreneurs and leaders can connect, build relationships and share ideas. The Entrepreneurial Leadership Award is meant to highlight the individual contributions of Asian women as entrepreneurs and corporate leaders.

Ms. Lee was awarded this honor due to her leadership and visionary drive, which has resulted in exponential growth for her company, STGi. Nominees were evaluated on the basis of their entrepreneurial leadership, career achievements, charitable contributions, and their ability to lead by example for Asian women in the business community leaders and will be presented at the organization's Annual Dinner on October 20, 2010 in New York City.

"I am honored and privileged to have this opportunity to represent the Asian community through this non-profit organization," said Lee. "I believe that it is important to take the time to recognize the contributions of women who have created a name for themselves in the field of business."

Ms. Lee's work extends beyond the corporate walls of STGi and into the community through her active involvement with several notable Washington, D.C. professional and charitable organizations, including the Washington Hospital Center Foundation, ServiceSource Network, George Mason University's Library Advisory Board, and the Arlington Signature Theatre.

As part of the award criteria under consideration, nominees were asked to describe contributions they are making to improve their community, "I worked with the Washington Hospital Center Foundation to establish the Michelle Lee Emergency Fund for the Medical House Call Program, which provides assistance, services, and medical and food supplies for home-bound elders living in the District of Columbia," said Lee. "I am proud of the work the foundation is doing to take care of the elderly community."
