STGi Announces Early Childhood Advisory Board

Board provides insight to Division of Education and Technical Assistance Services.

ALEXANDRIA, VA, November 23, 2010 – STG International, Inc. (STGi) is pleased to announce the formation of an Early Childhood Advisory Board which will bring strategic thinking and thought leadership to STGi's Division of Education and Technical Assistance Services. The board's collective expertise will further enhance the high quality training and technical assistance STGi delivers nationwide, while also strengthening its partnership with the Head Start and Early Head Start community on a national, statewide and regional level. Board members will specifically focus on issues that affect the children served across Head Start, Pre-K, child care and local education agencies, such as school readiness.

The board includes educational leaders with specific expertise in early childhood education, research, organizational development, health and educational assessment.

"We are so privileged to be able to work with such accomplished professionals who possess a wealth of knowledge and experience in early childhood education," said Michelle Lee CEO of STGi. "As early childhood initiatives continue to be a focus of the new administration, our Board's expertise will be a great asset for promoting school readiness."

"The formation of this board provides a tremendous opportunity for STGi to work with and learn from the very best experts in the early childhood education field," said Myra Crouch, Ph.D., and Chair of STGi's Early Childhood Advisory Board. "Each member holds specialized expertise on issues that affect Head Start and early care programs on a daily basis, as well as children and families. We look forward to working with our new partners so we can continually improve the trusted quality of education and technical assistance that STGi is known for delivering."
