

CentralCare, Inc. and STG International Win Walter Reed Staffing Contract
Companies to Provide Walter Reed Army Medical Center with Nursing Specialists

Alexandria, VA – June 1, 2009 – CentralCare, Inc., in partnership with STG International (STG), announces that they have been awarded a five-year, $21,611,905.00 contract by the Department of Defense (DoD) to provide licensed practical nurses (LPN) to support Walter Reed Army Medical Center (WRAMC).

WRAMC is the U.S. Army’s primary medical center on the East Coast. The facility treats over 150,000 active and retired military personnel from all branches of the military, including wounded warriors returning from wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. CentralCare and STG International will provide staff nurses at WRAMC to provide care in inpatient wards such as medical, surgical, operating rooms, and intensive/critical/specialty care.

“It is an honor for CentralCare, our partner STG International, the medical professionals we staff, and me to have this opportunity to support the treatment of our freedom fighters in one of the military’s largest and most innovative facilities,” said Krystle Okoye, president and CEO of CentralCare. “Walter Reed Army Medical Center is one of our nation’s most outstanding medical facilities and we look forward to being a part of the mission there.”

“This partnership adds significant value to the services both STG International and CentralCare will provide to Walter Reed Army Medical Center in support of DoD’s mission to care for wounded warriors,” said Michelle Lee, president and CEO of STG International. “Our medical workforce is ready to support the dedicated and hard working military personnel and their families. It is an honor for STG International to support our troops and our veterans. ”

Both CentralCare, Inc. and STG International, Inc. specialize in staffing the federal government with medical professionals.
