

FUTURE 50

The Future 50 program celebrates business growth and recognizes companies and owners who are keeping the Greater Washington business climate vibrant and exciting.

The Future 50 award is based upon employee growth and revenue growth over the last three years. To qualify for the Future 50, a business must be at least three years old and typically no more than ten years old. However, companies that have gone through a significant reinvention in the last three years (but are older than ten years) are also considered.

This is Washington SmartCEO's inaugural year for the Future 50 awards. The competition was very strong with more than 200 nominations. We welcome the opportunity to celebrate those that have created more than 5,000 jobs for the local economy.

BUSINESS DESCRIPTION

STG International provides a diverse range of medical, management and technical services, including medical staffing, medical records management, medical and scientific recruiting, library and information management, human resources solutions, information technology and records management, and administrative and facilities services outsourcing.

STG International was recently named by the Washington Post as #13 on Washington Technologies Fast 50 list of the fastest growing businesses providing services to the Government. Of particular note is that STG is the fastest growing non-IT provider in the Washington metropolitan area. Additionally, in October 2005 STG International made Inc. Magazine's list of the fastest growing privately held companies in the United States.

STG International was ranked number 80 on the list with a three year average growth rate of 1009 percent. This growth resulted from our commitment to providing our customers with the highest level of service. Our growth has also enabled us to strengthen our infrastructure and benefits programs thereby increasing our ability to recruit and retain the most qualified personnel.

TARGET CUSTOMER

STG International provides medical staffing services, human resources (HR) and management consulting support to Federal agencies including Department of Defense (DoD), Department of Homeland Security (DHS), Department of Commerce, and Health and Human Services (DHHS), and many other federal agencies.

MOST MEMORABLE SALE IN 2005

STG's most memorable award in '05 was from the Army to provide physicians and medical support personnel to the Kimbrough Ambulatory Care Center at Ft. Meade. This contract was important in STG International's strategic growth as it established us as a provider of all areas of medical services for DoD at a military medical facility.

BUSINESS PLANS FOR 2006

STG International looks forward to continued growth in 2006. Our plan is to be recognized as a major provider for medical services to the Department of Defense and the Veterans Administration. STG International seeks to become the premier outsource provider of federal human resources and human services to our federal clients.

COMMENTS ON INDUSTRY COMPETITION

Our market is a competitive one that demands quality services at competitive prices. STG International is committed to becoming the best at providing human resources outsourcing and medical support services to the Federal Government.
